Entrants in Local Contests Should Enter The News Contest.

All farmers who are entered in local cotton contests or county contests are being automatically entered in The Dallas Morning News and The Semi-Weekly Farm News "More Cotton on Fewer Acres" contest so that they will have a chance to compete not only for the local prizes but for the big State prizes totaling $10,000.

Chairmen of county or local cotton contests are urged to mail to The Dallas News a complete list of their local entrants, with correct mail addresses so that they can be entered in the State cotton contest. If this is not done, some farmers who may be entitled to some of the big State prizes will be denied an opportunity of winning a State prize because their names have not been turned in to The Dallas News.

All local cotton contest entrants should ask their county agents or the chairmen of the local cotton contests to mail their names in promptly before July 1, when the State cotton contest entries will close.

The same five acres and the same effort put forth in a local contest will enable farmers to win in the State contest. It costs nothing to enter the State cotton contest, so why not be entered for all the prizes that a farmer can possibly win? Also, the more farmers who enter the State contest the more information about successful cotton raising will be assembled which will become the property of all Texas cotton growers.

To date more than 6,000 farmers have entered the State contest and it is hoped to exceed this total very largely when all the victors have entered. VICTOR H. SCHOFFELMAYER, Agricultural Editor, The Dallas News and The Semi-Weekly Farm News.

BRYAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GIVES SUPPER TO MEMBERS OF GOOD WILL CARAVAN ON RETURN

Despite the fact that the Allen Academy-Bryan Good Will Tour Caravan arrived four hours behind schedule time, the enthusiasm was none the less from the waiting crowds that greeted them along Main and East 25th Street with blowing of horns and whistles as they paraded in their trucks and automobiles. The caravan was accompanied by a group of citizens who went out by car to Kurten to escort them into Bryan. Those making the trip were: Mayor Tyler Haswell, City Manager and Mrs. J. Bryan Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gordon and daughter, Ruth; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Lawrence; Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Dancy, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Allen and Nat Allen, Jr.; Mrs. R. W. Downard, Mrs. Sam E. Eberstadt, Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, Mrs. W. C. Weir of Itasca; Mrs. R. O. Allen, Mrs. E. A. Lightfoot, Mrs. H. P. Dancy; Misses Susie Mae Sanders, Waldine Sanders, Josephine Crute, Pauline McCulloch, Mary Lightfoot, Martha Rivers Allen; P. H. Hensarling, County Agent C. D. Beason, Rev. J. J. Tatum, J. L. Martin, William Allen, Horace Dancy, Jr., W. R. Fairman, Major L. L. McInnis, Allen Smith, E. E. Yeager, and A. McCormick.

Immediately upon arrival, Band Director E. A. Lightfoot assembled his men on the sidewalk in front of Long's Cafe and a short concert was given. While short, yet it was sufficient to convince every one who heard it that it is one of the best bands in the State and holds a distinction all its own. Too much praise cannot be given Director Lightfoot for the building up of such an institution in Bryan, which reflects honor to his ability as a band leader and to Allen Academy and Bryan. Pretty decorated tables in summer blossoms in the Allen Academy colors of purple and gold arranged in Long's Cafe awaited the happy but weary and worn band boys, when the Bryan Chamber of Commerce was host at a splendid supper honoring their home coming. While supper was planned for 8 o'clock, it was not served until 9 o'clock, yet the management of the cafe deserves commendation for the manner in which they handled the situation. The menu consisted of frozen fruit cocktail, vegetable salad, dill pickles, olives, spring chicken on toast, French peas en patties, waffled potatoes, hot rolls, plum marmalade, pie a la mode, and ice tea. Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, president of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced the speakers. Mayor Tyler Haswell gave a word of welcome from the city, expressing the appreciation of every citizen for the splendid service of the tour in putting Bryan on the map. Judge W. C. Davis was introduced as the silver-tongued orator of the South, and he brought greetings, paying a tribute to the founders of Allen Academy and the old

We visited 81 towns, traveled 1560 miles and spent 15 days on the trip of the Allen Academy-Bryan Chamber of Commerce Good Will Tour, said Secretary S. E. Eberstadt of the commercial organization, in making his report on the return of the party. Due to a broken housing on the rear axle the party did not arrive in Bryan until about 9:00 o'clock last night, Bryan being the only town on the whole itinerary that was not entered on schedule time or ahead of it. Immediately following their entry, a banquet was served the members of the Caravan by the Bryan Chamber of Commerce at Long's Cafe, there being 79 present.

In arriving at the number of people who heard the band from close-up positions, Secretary Eberstadt said that they had arranged for local people at each of the towns visited, who had had experience in estimating crowds to give their figures and then struck an average and deducted 25 per cent for over-inflation. CHILD HEALTH CONFERENCE IS CALLED OFF THIS WEEK and the most enjoyable part of the latter was sleeping under sweet gum and pine and oak trees.

The usual regular Thursday afternoon child health conference has had to be called off for this week on account of the fact that the scales are out of balance and that for this reason babies cannot be weighed and measured. It is hoped that by next week the scales will be repaired and in shape to conduct the usual weekly health conference for babies and children of pre-school age.

There was not the slightest case of illness on the whole trip. We found the roads fine with the exception of the road between Bryan and Hearne, starting out on our trip and the last 150 miles coming back to Bryan. Before the last 150 miles we went into towns ahead of schedule.

The greatest compliment that could have been paid the band was Secretary Eberstadt's statement that it was organized in September and many of the boys could not play an instrument before that time. This statement was disbelieved until Secretary Eberstadt gave records of the band. It was pronounced one of the best bands that had been heard, wherever they played and people went wild with enthusiasm. Applause at all times was deafening. The band played encore after encore and made the greatest hit of any musical organization that ever visited the cities enroute,

McCormick Makes Report On Stretch Of Road In Grimes

E. E. Yeager and Allen Smith, members of the highway committee of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce, in company with A. McCormick, state highway engineer for district No. 17, made a trip to the Democratic Crossing on Tuesday and made an inspection of the 2 1/4 miles of road in Grimes county that has been in question for so long, as making that section of the road impassable. It was through the interest of the State Highway Commission to co-operate with Brazos county in serving Texas and giving better roads that Mr. McCormick was available to make the report as this 2 1/4 miles is out of his territory. Mr. McCormick will file his report with the State Highway Engineer, A. C. Love, and it is hoped that some action will be had at an early date. The Bryan Chamber of Commerce highway committee is to be congratulated on the earnest effort they are putting forth in working for the best interests of the county roads.

ADVANCEMENT IN PROFESSION IS STRESSED AT VETERINARY MEETS

Election of Officers Featured Tuesday's Session of State Veterinary Association, Meeting in Annual Convention at A. and M.—Dr. W. R. Sanderson, Brownwood Retiring Head

(Special to The Eagle)

"It is possible for the foot and mouth disease, now prevalent in Mexico, to spread to the United States, and the strictest regulations will be enforced to prevent its entry into this country," Dr. N. F. Williams, State Veterinarian, Fort Worth, declared today at the annual convention here. He added that he believes that the last two occasions or outbreaks of the disease in this State were due to it having been brought here from Mexico.

COLLEGE STATION, June 16.—Steady advancement in the veterinary profession was the keynote of several addresses made Tuesday night before members of the State Veterinary Medical Association in annual convention at the A. and M. College of Texas. Dr. W. R. Sanderson of Brownwood, president, was chairman of the meeting. Earlier in the day new officers were elected as follows: Dr. V. E. Marney, of San Antonio, president; Dr. E. F. Lanham of Amarillo, first vice president, and Dr. E. C. Smotherman of Hillsboro, second vice president. Dr. D. Pearce of Leonard was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Members voted to return to the A. and M. College for their 1927 meeting, and to hold their mid-winter meeting in San Antonio. Dr. Sanderson was named delegate to the A. V. M. A. convention to be held in August at Lexington, Kentucky.

PRESIDENT TALKS. Upon motion of Dr. N. F. the A. and M. College in an address of welcome, praised the veterinarians for their dispatch and efficiency in combating the foot and mouth disease and said he knew of no more constructive thing that the live stock work being done by them. Dr. Walton declared veterinarians were demonstrating the tremendous value of their work daily to the people of Texas. Response was made by Dr. H. L. Darby of Ft. Worth.

Dr. R. P. Marsteller, head of the department of veterinary medicine at A. and M. College, and Dr. Marney, president elect, concurred in a prediction that increased activities of veterinarians was in the future.

Cure of Rabies. Dr. Williams contrasted the development of veterinary medicine to the development of the long-horn into the purebred cattle of today. He declared that veterinarians of the state owe their undivided support to the A. and M. College. Turning to a discussion of work of veterinarians, the state officer said a big relation existed between the profession and public health work.

"Veterinarians are responsible for the cure of rabies," Dr. Williams charged, and added "the state can save money annually if all dogs were vaccinated as a precaution against rabies and not people."

Dr. E. D. King, Jr., of Valdosta, Georgia, described the work of the veterinary profession as "a mission of altruistic service to humanity."

To Buy Equipment. Dr. W. G. Gregory of Fort Worth, told members cooperation between them and the A. and M. College was valuable to both, and advocated that each member recommend the college as an institution in which veterinary medicine is taught correctly.

Secretary Eberstadt Tells of Good Will Tour

We visited 81 towns, traveled 1560 miles and spent 15 days on the trip of the Allen Academy-Bryan Chamber of Commerce Good Will Tour, said Secretary S. E. Due to a broken housing on the rear axle the party did not arrive in Bryan until about 9:00 o'clock last night, Bryan being the only town on the whole itinerary that was not entered on schedule time or ahead of it. It was pronounced one of the best bands that had been heard, wherever they played and people went wild with enthusiasm. Applause at all times was deafening. The band played encore after encore and made the greatest hit of any musical organization that ever visited the cities enroute, Director E. A. Lightfoot made a hit wherever he went by his kind, easy manner in which he directed his band, with simple direction as to rhythm and time and no extensive flourishes. The boys were behind their leader and put into the instruments every ounce of energy, pep and music that they could. Sam Knox on the slyrimba, was one of the big hits of the band as were also the cornet duets and the the cornet and saxophone duets and the lad that played taps as the final number of the concert. In the latter duet the boys sang: "Tie Me To Your Apron Strings" and this was much applauded. "Taps" was followed by the playing of "The Allen Spirit," the school song.

At Ennis and Corsicana, Miss Miriam Crute, niece of Secretary S. E. Eberstadt, sang, "Allen Spirit," accompanied by the band and made a wonderful hit.

I can not speak too strong and in too glowing terms of the band and of Director E. A. Lightfoot, said the Secretary and I do not believe it were possible for any human to have shown more loyalty to Bryan or to Allen Academy than Director Lightfoot when, at Mineola, he received a telegram that his house had been destroyed by fire. Most men would have cancelled the tour and rushed home, but he said, "We'll go on and finish the trip as planned." This loyalty was maintained by him from the time we left until the day we got back. I found in Sherman, Greenville and Paris, where he had once directed bands, and at Pittsburg, his old home, the tributes and immense crowds that greeted him, showed plainly the esteem in which he held Director Lightfoot and his father and mother on Sunday, June 8th, at Pittsburg and they were full of warm expressions of appreciation for the courtesies that had been shown their son in Bryan and at Allen Academy, at his new work in a strange city.

"Tall oaks from little acorns grow" and big cities from little towns mold. Dreams are only seedlings of realities. This is true of individuals, towns and communities. As soon as a substantial majority of the citizens of Bryan realize this, then we will make our dreams of a bigger and better Bryan come true. Let's all get busy to that end.

Distinctively Texan is the open-air barbecue and proverbially popular, especially during campaign years. The earliest settlers remember the barbecue as the stamping ground for a political rally and they are none the less popular in this age, even if we do get our meat from the packing houses. Barbecues are essentially a democratic institution and for that reason they have survived through all these years and retained their popularity.

The Mineral Wells Index says there is a mighty mad woman there because some one sent her a suggestion to read the first six words of the 36th chapter of Jeremiah. The Bryan Eagle says she looked it up and read it, and she must not have liked it either, for she added, "you might do the same if you are interested." Now we will be more accommodating to our readers and quote the offending verse: "Why gaddest thou about to much?" It is a pertinent question to many.—Glimmer Mirror.

I have to run all over hell to find you and get the receipt."

REPRODUCED EAGLE.
A novel and interesting feature of the Athens Daily Review of Thursday, June 10, is a reproduction of the more important news contained in the Bryan Daily Eagle of Wednesday, June 8, with the heading of the front page also reproduced. This was done in order to give news of Bryan to the members of the Allen Academy Chamber of Commerce Good Will Caravan, which visited Athens on Thursday. The reproduction of the Eagle contained the story of the fire at the Lightfoot home, a column of personal mentions, the list of local people who will report to R. G. T. C. camp and other news that no South interested the members of the Bryan Good Will Caravan.

HOW TO WIN SUCCESS
If you want a thing bad enough to go out and fight for it, work day and night for it, give up your time and your peace and your sleep for it; if only desire for it makes you quite mad enough to tire of it, make you hold all other things tawdry and cheap for it; if life seems all useless and empty without it, and all your schemes and dreams about it; if, gladly, you'll wait for it, fret for it, please for it, how all your terror of God or man for it; if you'll simply go after that thing that you want, with all your capacity, strength and sagacity, faith, hope, confidence, perseverance, and gain, your sickness or pain of body or brain can turn you away from the thing that you want—of dogged and grim you manage and beat it, you'll get it.—Clipped from Morning Messenger, Rev. Dr. F. Key, Boston.

Richardson was given a little black dot on the program card of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce Thursday morning when the mayor nor any city representative appeared to welcome the visitors to the city or make them feel we were glad of their coming.—Richardson Echo.

We consider the good will and love of a child more valuable than the favor of a king. Children are sincere, there is no camouflage about them. When you can command the respect and confidence of a child, there must be something to you—for to gain the respect and confidence of youth one is possessed with the golden gift.

SOME WEED CUTTER
We see in The Eagle that Sam E. Eberstadt is now home after several days absence. The weeds growing in the city of Bryan will now be cut.—Madisonville Meteor.

Thanks! We knew the Secretary an adept at many things, but we did not know he was an artist at the game of weed cutting. We will see that he gets busy.

We are today grateful to the officers and governing committee of Press Congress of the World for an invitation to attend the third session of the congress to be held at Geneva, Lausanne, Switzerland, September 14-18, 1926. We have enjoyed the beauties of the scenery and climate around both these cities and nothing would please us so much as to go again, but can't go this time, perhaps another time.

We have never been a candidate for any office but from the regular heap of mail that comes each day to our desk from those candidates whose duty it is to save our country, we think it must cost a lot of money. We don't know whether we are a special favorite or not, but we received five letters one day from the same candidate. Each letter assured us the matter was very interesting and could be published in The Eagle without cost.

The fact that Allen Academy has a school inviting the young boys of Texas who desire to attend a "prep" institution, is very evident to those who were fortunate enough to hear the band from this college "toot their horn" when they visited Richardson Thursday morning. Some people do not believe in advertising their business, we can prove this from the advertising columns of The Echo, yet enough do believe in it and know that advertising pays, to keep the others of the world posted.—Richardson Echo.

FAILURES vs. ADVERTISING
An investigation made by representatives of the 100,000 group of American cities shows that business failures during 1925 were very largely among firms and individuals who had not used newspaper advertising at all. In many instances failure was directly traced to this cause.

The percentage of failures during 1925 attributed to non-advertisers, was as follows: Baltimore, Md., 88; Bridgeport, Conn., 60; Canton, O., 80.5; Chicago, Ill., 88; Cincinnati, O., 91.3; Columbus, O., 85.5; Fort Worth, Texas, 87.5; Houston, Texas, 72; Indianapolis, Ind., 75; Louisville, Ky., 85; Milwaukee, Wis., 84; Nashville, Tenn., 67; Newark, N. J., 89; New Orleans, La., 87; Oklahoma City, Okla., 86; Omaha, Neb., 88.4; Portland, Ore., 94; Rochester, N. Y., 95; San Antonio, Texas, 85.5; Spokane, Wash., 82.5; Springfield, Mass., 80; Syracuse, N. Y., 75; St. Louis, Mo., 94.6; Toledo, O., 78.7; Troy, N. Y., 100; Utica, N. Y., 78; Washington, D. C., 76; Worcester, Mass., 86; and Youngstown, O., 83.5.

These figures which are said to be accurate prove beyond question that the man or firm who does not use the newspaper to advertise his wares is headed for certain failure. It also proves that it does pay to advertise.

GOOD ROADS DID IT.
A former Denton citizen who hadn't been back in 10 years, remarked on the "transformation" that had come over the city since he last saw it. We who have been here all the time find it difficult to realize just what a transformation it has been in the eyes of those to whom it comes as a sudden change.

But a lot of us have realized that the transformation of Denton has come about since the building of the good roads. There may be argument as to whether it was cause and effect, but there will be no disputing that since the good roads were built have come the most marked improvements and growth that any period twice as long in Denton's previous history ever witnessed.

Another 10 years should see as great a "transformation" as have the previous eight, if Denton citizens continue to accomplish the spirit that makes towns of villages and cities of towns. Denton has grown symmetrically and happily no boom, no sudden spurs, but just a steady, solid growth, the kind of which we would better appreciate if we would look back to the Denton of a decade or even five years ago.—Denton Record.

This is the same old story you hear from every town and county that gets good roads, yet in spite of this convincing evidence from others there are counties, who still refuse to vote bond issues to have good roads. Anything worth having is worth paying for, then why quibble over the small tax you would have to pay to support good roads. We believe the time is opportune now for Brazos county to vote for good roads. Good roads are cheap at any price if you count the cost of wear and tear.

ENDLESS CHAIN SCHEMES
The American Bankers Journal has the following to say regarding an endless chain scheme that found favor in several places in Texas for a brief period recently.

"Here is an endless chain scheme which is reported to have relieved working girls of a portion of their savings. The loss ran into many thousands of dollars.

"The scheme is to sell silk hose to working girls by getting them to act as selling agents. A hosiery company rents offices in the downtown shopping district. Soon an attractive offer in silk hosiery is made through the local newspapers. By cleverly worded advertisements, it would appear that any young lady can secure five pairs of hose worth $2 a pair for only $1. In other words, $10 worth of silk for only $1. Without stopping to analyze the proposition, or to consider how impossible it is for any concern to stay in business and sell $10 worth of silk hose for $1, thousands of young women instantly fall for the scheme.

"Here is how it catches its victims. Each victim pays $4 and receives three coupons which they must sell to their friends, and then their friends must come in and pay down $4 each, get three coupons each which they must sell to their friends, and then these friends must perpetuate the scheme by selling coupons to their friends and so on indefinitely.

"Here is where the promoters make a clean-up. One of the conditions which must be met before the young woman who purchased the first coupons receives her $10 worth of hose for $1 is that the three to whom she sold her coupons must come in, pay down $4 each for three coupons, and then go out and sell them. Before the three have done this one or perhaps all three get 'cold feet' on the proposition and rather than go out and 'soak' three of their friends $1 each, they simply give up the job and charge their loss to experience. But in doing so they also block the girl who purchased the first coupon from completing her contract and of course, she, too, not being able to complete her contract, loses the money she invested in the scheme.

"At a glance, the loss appears to be small, but the truth is, the scheme is capable of such great expansion that it soon takes in hundreds and thousands of victims. For example, it would be impossible to expand the scheme twenty-two times for that would be more than there are people in the world. Think of an endless scheme which expanded twenty-two times, or on the twenty-second transaction would sell millions of dollars worth of hose. This is but one of the many endless chain schemes in use today in the United States."

We have been reliably informed that the endless chain schemes have been plying their trade in Brazos county. Whether it is the above particular scheme we do not know, but whatever it is, working girl, banker's wife, or what-not can spend her money to better advantage in Bryan. If you did fall for this scheme, just 'less up and resolve you won't do it anymore. Honest confession is good for the soul.

Union Service Held
In Welcome to
Rev. Thos. Watts

A great service was held at the First Baptist Church in Bryan on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, when the congregation from the various churches of the city met in a welcome service, honoring Dr. Thomas Gordon Watts, the newly arrived pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city. A graceful arrangement of flowers and pointed ferns made the altar and choir recess most attractive. A special program of exquisite music by the united choirs was an in-

Chief C. E. Jenkins, assistant chief, A. K. Brown, Tom Jenkins, I. E. Warren, Sam Noto, Will Black, Harry Berger, Leroy Satterwhite, DeWitt Graham, Jim Ramsey, fire marshal, John Stansley, Rap Pippin and W. B. Saunders, all firemen of the Bryan Department, accompanied by Mrs. A. K. Brown and son, A. K. Jr., Pete Vitopil and Miss Kate Parker, Firemen's Quon and her chaperone, Mrs. F. L. Henderson, forming the Bryan delegation to the State Firemen's Convention, held last week at Harlingen, have all returned home. They began arriving on Friday night—those who did make the valley trip and all had returned here by this morning.

Those making the trip through the valley were: Chief C. E. Jenkins and son, Tom; Sam Noto, Will Black, Jim Ramsey and Leroy Satterwhite.

The order of entertainments opened on Tuesday night, the night of the opening day, with a big street dance. Other forms of amusement were baseball games, horse races and of course the firemen's reel races with old style equipment.

Those making the valley trip left Harlingen in cars at 7:00 in the morning, an ample supply of cars being supplied for their use. They went to Mission where all formed in a parade and then inspected all places of interest in the valley. From there they went to Matamoros, Old Mexico, at the other end of a 72-mile paved highway from Mission across from Brownsville. Here they were treated to a big barbecue and returned to Harlingen in time to catch the night train at 8:40 o'clock on the return home.

The election of C. E. Jenkins fourth vice-president was overwhelmingly in his favor, the first 20 votes of 23 counted being in his interest and at the end of a few minutes of counting the other two candidates got up and resigned from the race in favor of Mr. Jenkins. This election means that in four years Mr. Jenkins will be the president of the state association of firemen, since these presidents move up a notch with each passing year.

All of the members of the Bryan Fire Department are loud in their praise of Harlingen and one of them said that any time Harlingen wanted the convention again it would have the whole-hearted support of the Bryan organization to get it.

FORESTRY WORK MADE ONE OF MAJOR DEPARTMENTS AT A. & M.

STATE FORESTER E. O. SIECKE COMMENTS ON ELEVATION OF FORESTRY WORK AT A. AND M.

(Special to the Eagle).
COLLEGE STATION, June 14. State forestry activities, under the administrative control of the A. and M. College of Texas now constitutes one of the four major divisions of the College as the result of a ruling in a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the College. E. O. Siecke, head of the department, has been designated director of the new division. It has been given the same official rank as the Extension Service and the Experiment Station divisions of the College.

In commenting on the action of the Board of Directors, Mr. Siecke who has been State Forester for eight years, said: "The action of the Board will be extremely gratifying to the members of the Texas Forestry Association and to many other friends of the forestry development. A realization that our forestry problems must have attention and that a wise forestry policy must be prepared and inaugurated is rapidly spreading among the land owners concerned, the Legislators and other interests."

Inaugurated by the State Legislature in 1915, state forestry has made consistent progress and the personnel has grown to five technical and 44 non-technical employees. Chief lines of endeavor embrace forest fire prevention and suppression work, general education efforts to speed development of a constructive forestry policy and the rendering of assistance to Texas farmers in the proper management of their timberland and the establishment of windbreaks and farm groves. Approximately 95 per cent of the work of the department is educational.

In the opinion of Mr. Siecke, there is a large field for forestry development in the state, as the lumber industry of Texas is exceeded by that of only six other states. "A special forestry committee, authorized by the Legislature and appointed by the Governor, has submitted comprehensive suggestions as to a state forestry policy and it is expected that a constitutional amendment necessary to inaugurate this policy will be submitted to the people of Texas by the next Legislature," Mr. Siecke said.

He believes that economic factors will force Texas adequately to support state forestry activities on a par with similar departments in the leading forest states.

MRS. J. S. BURTIS OF BRYAN IN CELEBRATION OF HER NINETIETH BIRTHDAY THURSDAY, JUNE 10

"After all, what is the greatest thing in life?" inquired a visiting friend of Mrs. J. S. Burtis of Bryan on Thursday when she celebrated her ninetyeth birthday. "The living of it, with good health and the love of children and grandchildren," promptly answered this dear old lady sitting in the quiet of her home, surrounded by every comfort, and sustained by that love which has been her inspiration through life. That old age, is not the dreary, somber time of life we think it to be, is proven by Mrs. Burtis, who smiles through out the days, and enjoys her friends, as she sits in her comfortable chair and crochets, reads, embroiders or sews busily on the bright quilt patchwork in her sewing basket by her side. Old age is only the autumn of our existence in this world. As nature displays her brightest glory in the fall of the year, so do mortals exhibit that brilliance and splendor of character in their later years; for is it not true that the best of life is yet to be?

The twilight days of such a long and useful life as has been enjoyed by Mrs. Burtis, can but inspire and encourage all who meditate upon them with a hope for the same love and joy in their own lives, and the peace and happiness which beams in the eyes of this precious "mother in Israel."

On Thursday, June 10th, Mrs. J. S. Burtis passed her ninetyeth birthday, and the occasion was celebrated at a dinner given by her children and grandchildren at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Allen in this city. Forty-five were present, the children, grand children and great-grandchildren of the family. All were seated at the beautifully adorned table, where four delicious courses were served, and where the big white birthday cake with ninety glowing candles occupied place of honor on the festal board. Mrs. Burtis was remembered with many elegant gifts, loving telegrams, flowers and messages from friends far and near, and the day was one of delight throughout for her, and her family. All her children except one were present for the day as follows: Mrs. C. E. Gustavus, Dallas; Mrs. J. A. Finty, Madisonville; Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Burtis, Denison; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Burtis, Madisonville; Mrs. J. H. Allen, and Miss Mae Burtis, Bryan. Only one was absent, W. M. Burtis, Frankston, he being represented by his daughter, Miss Alice Burtis, who has been with her grandmother since she was six weeks of age.

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Word Burtis was born at Somerville, Tennessee, June 10, 1836, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Word. With her parents, she came to Texas at the age of four years, the long trip in those pioneer days being made by wagon. While en route to Texas, the father became seriously ill and died before they reached their destination. He was buried in 1840 at Galveston. The widow with her family came on to Huntsville, Walker county, Texas, where they resided until 1853, when they returned to their former home in Tennessee. After a few years, Sarah Elizabeth Word was married to the sweetheart of her childhood, J. S. Burtis, at Somerville, Tennessee, and they built their own home nest in that good state. Eleven children were born to them, some during their residence in Tennessee and others after they had been drawn back to the great western plains of Texas. The husband and father passed away many years ago, and the good mother has lived on to bless her children and to be loved and cherished by them until this day. Seven living children, fifty-four grandchildren, fifty-six great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild, a total of one hundred and eighteen souls now form a circle of love and a halo of glory around the life of this beloved Christian mother, whose life has "shone with ever increasing luster throughout the years."

Bryan friends join with the family in loving good wishes for many added years of life and usefulness for Mrs. J. S. Burtis, for a long and peaceful twilight, with a radiant sunset at the close of the "perfect day."

ADRIANCES OFF TO LANSING MICHIGAN, WHERE HE WILL ATTEND THE UNIVERSITY. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Adriance of A. and M. College, left Bryan early this morning in their car for East Lansing, Michigan, where Mr. Adriance goes to attend the summer term at the University of Michigan. He will do special work on his Doctor's Degree in that University, returning to A. and M. College in time for the opening of school in September, where he is a member of the faculty. Mr. and Mrs. Adriance will make the trip to Michigan, via: Marshall, Shreveport, Kansas City, Des Moines, and hope to make an average of three hundred miles every day, as the roadways are so delightful. Their many friends wish for them a safe and pleasant trip, a splendid summer and an early return to College and to Bryan.

Mrs. Lee Copeland of Shreveport, La., arrived this afternoon for a visit to her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Collard.

FOUR NAVASOTA YOUNG PEOPLE HURT WHEN A CAR WENT INTO DITCH

Misses Beatrice Olden and Grace Williams, with their escorts, two boys named Chaney and Thomas, all of Navasota, were coming to Bryan last night in a car when just the other side of Wellborn, about 9:30 o'clock, blinded by the lights of a car coming out of Bryan toward Millican, the Navasota driver ran the car off the bank into the ditch. The auto turned over three times and practically demolished it but fortunately none of the occupants were seriously injured. The parties were taken back to Navasota by a passing car and a letter to a Bryan boy today states all are able to be about and that the Thomas boy seems to have been the most seriously hurt. The others are quite badly bruised and shaken up and some of them are limping about. It was fortunate that none of them were not fatally or seriously injured. The accident happened near the bridge on the highway just the other side of Wellborn.

Mrs. Edna Colburn Died Early Today

The body was taken this afternoon to Independence, Grimes county, for interment in the family burying ground at Independence cemetery, where the services were conducted at 4 p. m. by Rev. George Robinson, with McCulloch-Gordon Undertaker in charge of funeral arrangements.

REPORT OF LAST WEEK'S WORK OF BRYAN GOOD WILL TRIPPERS MADE TO N. B. ALLEN ON 'PHONE

Arriving at Pittsburg at 1:00 o'clock on Sunday, June 5, the Bryan-Allyn Academy Good Will Trippers were met by a delegation of Pittsburg business men and escorted to Ferndale Park, according to information given in a telephone message from Secretary S. E. Eberstadt to N. B. Allen Saturday. The park was turned over to the tourists and after a fine dinner a concert was given to a crowd of 4,000. The tourists were not permitted to spend any money while in Pittsburg and were treated royally in every respect. Resting there over Sunday, they attended church at the First Methodist Church in a body and left Monday at noon. The hospitality here could hardly have been improved on in any respect. It was the old home of Mr. Lightfoot, the Academy band director. The caravan proceeded to Mt. Pleasant where a big audience was waiting. After a concert and the extending of every courtesy by the Mt. Pleasant people, the tour proceeded to Daingerfield. From Daingerfield they were escorted by representatives from Hughes Springs to that city, where 5,000 people were present for the concert. These had gathered from all adjacent cities. It was a very enthusiastic and cosmopolitan audience. They then went to Avinger where another fine reception had been arranged. At this place a delegation from Jefferson was present and escorted the tourists to the old home of Sam E. Eberstadt. The hospitality here was simply great. Flowers, cold drinks, dinners and courtesies of all nature were literally showered on the personnel of the touring body. From Jefferson the tour proceeded to Marshall, and through Hallsville to Longview, where on Tuesday evening the band played to an audience of 5,000. From Longview, the tourists went through Glade-water and to Big Sandy where a most enthusiastic audience awaited them. From Big Sandy, the tour proceeded to Mineola, Grand Saline, Willis Point, and on to Terrell. At Terrell a tremendous crowd greeted the tourists and disappointment was expressed because the tourists could not remain for the night. Kaufman, however, had his delegation at Terrell and refused to give up the trippers for the night stop. Proceeding to Kaufman, a great reception was given and every courtesy extended. On Thursday morning at 9:40 the tourists went to Ennis where Mr. Gabe Cazell, heading the Ennis delegation, had planned a wonderful reception. At this point during the concert Mr. Sam Eberstadt's niece, Miss Miriam Crute, sang a solo, "The Allen Spirit" to the accompaniment of the band. Miss Crute's singing was a wonderful addition to the concert and a great hit was made at this place. Mr. Cazell and Miss Crute accompanied the caravan to Corsicana where the same concert was repeated. Here a great dinner has been prepared. From Corsicana the caravan travelled through Kerens where an enthusiastic audience greeted them. From Kerens they proceeded to Athens where perhaps the most enthusiastic reception yet accorded the tourists was given. After a great dinner furnished by the Athens Chamber of Commerce, a concert was given to about 3,500. The night was spent in Athens and every courtesy showered on those making the tour. The tourists were last heard from at Tyler where on yesterday they were the guests of the Tyler Rotary, Lions and Commercial clubs, and where a great feed had been prepared. The tourists spent Friday night at Palestine where a great reception had been planned. The Country Club there was turned over to them and another great crowd and another great dinner. Mr. Eberstadt reports that the hospitality of East Texas has been nothing less than remarkable. At every single point the tourists have been met with a well planned reception and a delegation from the next town on the list has been there to escort them on to the next stop. All along the way some woman's organization in the different cities has furnished wonderful flowers and in a number of places the tourists have been greeted with an audience decked in the Academy school colors. Mr. Eberstadt reports that he is receiving daily telegrams and phone calls from other towns in East Texas asking that the caravan come their way. The tour is gaining in interest and the receptions are growing daily, into a wonderful show of true hospitality and good will. The tourists will arrive in Bryan next Tuesday afternoon. They spent Sunday, June 13, as the guests of the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce at that place.

community, according to Misses Ruby and Bertha Walker, who were in Bryan this morning on business, accompanied by their brother, Sherman Walker. They have asked the people to come early Friday morning and bring spades, shovels and other necessary tools; also so well filled baskets. The work will be started during the morning hours and at noon there will be a basket lunch spread on the ground. In the afternoon the work will be completed. The church is for all church denominations of the Tabor-Alexander communities.

THE BOOSTER

This is my town; within its gates
I dwell; its faults are mine.
Its love I claim, I share its hates;
In all its strife and joy I join.

This is my home; it gives me bread;
It shelters those whom I hold dear.
Its laws safeguard me while they spread
Protecting arms that help and cheer.

Here live my friends, and should they frown
On me, mayhap the cause is mine.
Nor will I condemn this, my town,
If faults in me my neighbors find.

Here I may tell my yea or nay;
Here may I lift my voice and speak,
Here cast my ballot in the fray
When this, my town, its leaders seek.

It matters not how others see
This town of mine; nor care I, should
They ridicule; 'tis fair to me,
Within its gates all things are good.

Of this, my town, I am a part,
To help it rise or keep it down;
May loyalty dwell in my heart
With boundless faith in this, my town.

Brazos County Can Grow Fine Flowers Represented At Family Reunion

Miss Abbie Sevier, home demonstration agent brought to The Eagle office this morning a bouquet of flowers gathered from the garden of Mrs. J. M. Conway of Reliance. There were some fifteen or twenty varieties among which were Honey Suckle, Sweet Alyssum, Zinnias, Petunias, Holly Hocks, Lark Spurs, Sweet Peas, Touch-me-nots, Heliotrope, Poppies, Canna Lilies, Mignonette, old fashioned pinks, dahlias, etc. All of these flowers were grown from the seed given out last spring by the Bryan Nursery Co. as in incentive for the women in Brazos county to grow flowers and enjoy the beautiful. If this bouquet is a fair sample of the results of the Nursery Co. in getting the women to plant flowers, they have served a good purpose and their goal has been reached. And if has thus further demonstrated the fact that Brazos county can grow anything that any other county can and better.

Primary Medicine of Mexico.—and said that the foot and mouth disease in that country was practically under control, and that it was hoped to stamp it out entirely this year. Mexico is facing a big problem in the tubercular animal, it was said, and also in the disease caused by poisonous weed.

Dr. Santa Maria has come to this country to buy oil burners, disinfectants and apparatus for work in destroying the cattle killed off by the disease, he announced. He will make his purchases in Houston and while there will study the inspection of milk as carried on by Houston veterinarians, to be later introduced in the southern republic.

Foot and Mouth Disease

Dr. Mark Francis, dean of the school of veterinary medicine at A. and M. College, declared that of 800,000,000 animals in Texas, 2 per cent annually were being lost through preventable causes. He laid their loss to the following diseases: abortion diseases, glanders, tuberculosis, anthrax and black leg, foot and mouth disease, and hog cholera. He stressed the value of milk and meat inspection to public health. Dr. Francis predicted a bright future for veterinary medicine work at the A. and M. College.

Dr. Williams read a bulletin issued by Secretary Jardine of Agriculture dated June 10, in which the government announced that the foot and mouth disease had been completely eradicated in the country.

Other speakers on the program were Dr. L. B. Ernst, mayor of Kensington, Maryland, and a member of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Husbandry; and Dr. Marney, newly elected president of the association.

Three Houston veterinarians and Dr. S. N. Blackberg of the college, were on the program Tuesday afternoon.

Pictures To Europe.

Dr. John A. Phillips, city veterinarian, explained the Houston ordinances governing milk and meat inspection and methods for their enforcement. Dr. S. D. Dunn, chief milk inspector, outlined his work and told of the campaign to rid the community of diseased cattle. He announced that everything possible would be done to enforce the milk ordinance in Houston.

Dr. J. C. Horning, Houston veterinarian, illustrated and lectured on the use of endoscopic instruments in removing objects from the lungs, stomach and other sections of the body of animals, and has taken pictures of the college buildings which he will show to European veterinarians this fall, when he tours the continent.

Various plant mineral poisons found in the state and the increasing problem the present to live stock owners was explained by Dr. Blackberg, associate professor of veterinary medicine. He displayed a bundle of letters from persons seeking information on poisoned plants which they suspected killed cattle owned by them. Dr. Blackberg emphasized the need for much research work in this field as a precautionary measure. He cited an instance of four human deaths due to poisoning by drinking milk which had come from plant-poisoned animals.

Agriculture in Brazos Bottoms.

The Brazos Bottoms may be slowly, but it is surely, changing from a one-crop system to a diversified program of farming. The luxuriant fields of alfalfa, the great stacks of oats, the careful attention being given to young orchards on so many of the farms, and the wonderful truck patches and gardens not only demonstrate the great possibilities of this "magic" valley, but to the careful observer it is also indicative of a diversification making more prosperous its people and bringing, as a result, fame to this section of our great State. Figs, plums, peaches, pears, grapes, etc., are growing in the greatest profusion on many of the farms, and the farmers are showing the keenest interest as they observe how quickly and how abundantly trees grow and fruit in their fertile soil. A visit to Dr. Angona's fine little farm of a hundred or two acres would reveal great trellises of the finest grapes that ever tickled the gustatory nerve of man; pears and plums, crimsoned by the kiss of a June sunshine, beckoning to the observer to partake of their wonderful flavor, and mark their early and prolific production. Among the long rows of young plum trees, one—two years old and less than four feet high—was observed to have 75 large plums set on it. The many varieties of grapes seemed to be vying with each other in yields that burdened their trellises. Figs grow most luxuriantly, a variety known to the Italian farmers in their native country seeming to take preference over other varieties because of their wonderful flavor and apparent disease resisting qualities. Mr. Angona, as well as other Brazos Bottom farmers, is giving considerable attention to the development of the pecan industry. His son, Tony, is doing a very fine piece of work propagating paper shell varieties on to native pecan trees. So successful has he been in this work that he has already had calls to come to other parts of the state and do similar work. When the Brazos Bottoms are given over to truck and fruit and a safe and sane diversification, the prosperity of her people and the fame of this section will be assured forever and a day. Who is ready to start the promotion?

Brazos Will Feed Himself.

The great stacks of oats, alfalfa, patches and fields of sorghums, and the extensive late plantings of Darso, Hegari, Sudan, etc., all indicate that Brazos county is endeavoring to "feed herself" this year. It is yet time to plant feed stuff. With the price of cotton going down every day, we should not fail to produce and save all the feed possible.

Schedule of Week's Meetings.

With a club meeting at Smetana Thursday night, Saturday afternoon at Edge, and a community meeting at Steep Hollow Saturday night, and also a community meeting at Millican Thursday night, gives plenty of places to which you may go with pleasure and profit. Don't forget the big club meeting at Kurten on Monday night, June 21st.

County Agents and Silk B.V.D.'s.

County Agent Joe Combs of Montgomery county came all the way to A. and M. College the other day for the sole purpose of showing his "duds," his Conroe friends and constituents having dressed him up from head to foot in fashion's latest and best. The male employees of the Extension Service declare that Joe was wearing silk B. V. D.'s. Now, we do not object to the good people of Conroe and Montgomery county showing their appreciation to Joe Combs, but we do lay down the proposition that no county agent should wear "silk B. V. D.'s." Cut it out, Joe.

Saturday's Half Holiday.

At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon there were observed to be 104 colored farmers along the side walk on the Haswell block. None of them were trading, and the probability is that none of them had the cash with which to purchase many of the necessities of life. And yet, throughout the county, there were thousands of acres of cotton that might have been chopped on a Saturday afternoon, the owner gladly paying the cash for the work and thus enabling the laborer to make his visit to town profitable to himself and also profitable to the merchant with whom he trades. This is merely mentioned for the purpose of showing another—lost source of our economic losses—and not with the hope that we shall return to work on a Saturday afternoon.

Marketing of Our Products.

Colonel H. H. Haines, secretary-manager of the Houston Chamber of Commerce, in speaking to the Extension Service workers at the Houston meeting in January, called attention to the fact that the fig industry in South Texas had received a set back in past years because of lack of co-operation and better marketing facilities, but seeing the possibilities of the industry, he stated that the business men of Houston were now co-operating with fig growers in standardizing their product and in helping them find the most profitable market possible. A similar situation obtains right here in Brazos county now. Our people have been asked to "diversify," and many of them have done so, with the result that tons and tons of onions are now ready for harwhere we camped from Saturday at 5 o'clock until Monday at noon, as we left, Mrs. Roy Swayze addressed the boys and said that the Club had been hosts to all kinds of organizations, football teams, socials and the like, but in all sincerity, she wanted to say that never before had a group of boys been more kind, more considerate, or seemed finer or better behaved gentlemen than the Allen boys from Allen Academy. She said that she had a boy and she hoped to send him to Allen Academy in Bryan because she wanted him to go where such fine young men were turned out.

also Professor R. E. Williams, did their part splendidly, said the secretary, and cooperated in every way in putting before the people their respective lines of work in the school. President M. M. Erskine of the Bryan Lions Club and Geo. Neddalek of Bryan, joined the party at Nacogdoches on the last lap of the trip and followed the caravan to Bryan last night. Secretary Eberstadt said that he often called on Mr. Erskine to make a talk and he always responded with something that was good for Bryan, Allen Academy and the Lions Club.

We gave out around 40,000 pieces of literature. I talked personally from 15 to 20 minutes during the day-time concerts and 30 to 40 minutes at the night programs, making 82 such talks in all. In responding to welcomes at banquets, dinners, luncheons, etc., I made 22 talks, a total of 102 talks on the trip in 15 days. After returning I am in pretty good shape to keep on talking.

Director Lightfoot and I, from the time we left until we returned, worked, played and planned, both day and night, whether riding 18 or 78 miles an hour, to make the tour more profitable or successful. No two men could have worked so harmoniously together. In this connection I want to give Director Lightfoot full credit for to him, as much as anyone else, if not more, belongs the credit for the success of this great tour. We regretted very much that we could not arrive on time in Bryan. The break-down on the bad roads leading in to Crockett caused the trouble and it took three men four hours to make repairs. We had to cut out one town on the trip and that was Madisonville. That city was not on the original itinerary but we had arranged, by telephone, to make a stop there between Crockett and Bryan and they had arranged a big dinner for us. However, the breakdown made it necessary to cut out the stop at Madisonville in order to get to Bryan before too late at night.

During the visit to Huntsville, Mayor Ball, Secretary Eastern and Jno. Baldwin, committee from the Chamber of Commerce, came to the restaurant where we were lunching, and wanted to know what they could do for us as they wished to do something.

Secretary Eberstadt said that he called on every newspaper in every town visited and gave them publicity and that they will carry a long story of the tour in their papers. At Dallas and Fort Worth the News and Star-Telegram offices were serenaded and concerts played in the lobbies. Preachers, lawyers, doctors, judges, mayors, presidents of chambers of commerce, service and women's clubs, all were on hand to extend words of welcome.

The secretary said that he would continue this story during the next twelve months because it would take that long for him to tell it. However, he said, that to get a full impression of the trip, one would have to have been along. In conclusion he said that this tour has given Bryan and Allen Academy, and Brazos county as a whole, the greatest publicity than anything has ever done, and that we may expect to see visible results of the good accomplished through increased attendance at Allen Academy and a greater population in Bryan, together with the fact that the city of Bryan and its progressive spirit is now known all over north and east Texas, which should be of material interest to the people of this city.

Secretary Sam E. Eberstadt was introduced and asked to give as nearly as possible the same pep talk and stunts put on at other towns, forgetting that he was in his home town, Bryan. He in turn presented Director E. A. "It's Better in Bryan!"

Those present were: Major and Mrs. A. E. Lightfoot, Miss Mary Lightfoot, Secretary and

RAIL POLICE REQUIRED TO DISPEL CROWD

CATHOLIC POPULACE PRESS STATION TO SEE CARDINAL BONZANO, PAPAL LEGATE

(By Associated Press).

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Cardinal Red Train, bearing nine princes of the Roman Catholic Church, left here today for Chicago to attend the Eucharistic Congress. It required the combined strength of the city railroad station police to restrain the crowds as they pressed forward in an attempt to see or hope for opportunity to kiss the ring of Cardinal Bonzano, Papal Legate, as he was escorted to the train.

Ferguson Opposes Bond Validation

(By Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, June 16.—James E. Ferguson, speaking here last night in behalf of his wife's candidacy for governor, declared that those seeking bond validation "are trying to saddle back on the people of Texas $100,000,000 in bonds which the supreme court has said you don't owe."

Undaunted by the fact that a large crowd assembled to hear him had melted to one-third before a downpour of rain, Ferguson devoted a considerable portion of his speech to answer to that of Dan Moody here Monday night and to J. A. Kemp, who introduced Moody and who issued a statement against Ferguson's candidacy Saturday night.

Governor Ferguson spoke for a few minutes from a prepared speech during the exodus before the first downpour of rain. During the noise there were frequent calls for "louder."

"If you'll hush hollering I'll make you hear," was the speaker's response.

The governor was introduced by F. W. Fischer of Wichita Falls, and C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls introduced James E. Ferguson, declaring he would "leave it to the crowd if the governor did not get more applause here in ten minutes than Dan Moody got all night."

Ferguson charged that Kemp, as representative of New York bond brokers, was anxious to obtain bond validation in the interest of his clients. He said he had no personal grudge against him, but that Kemp was getting old.

If the bonds which the supreme court has said the people "don't owe" are saddled back upon them, the speaker declared, "your children will curse the day."

The speaker charged Attorney General Moody with "bringing on" the bond tangle. He said that Moody approved the bond issues after being warned that the supreme court would hold them invalid. "He let the Archer county case run over him because he was too ignorant to help himself," Ferguson declared.

Attacks Moody's Record.

The speaker devoted a large portion of his speech to matters covered before, including the highway contracts, which Moody has attacked, Moody's war and scholastic record, Moody's rating in Martindale's law directory and what he termed the impossibility of Moody going into the governor's chair from the attorney general's office.

Ferguson declared he did not intend to let Kemp "make a bond broker's office out of the governor's office," any more than he was going to let "a filling station or lumber yard" be made of it.

After the speaking, newspaper reporters followed Ferguson to his hotel and asked him to repeat his statement regarding the validation on the bonds. He said that as near as he could recall he said:

"Do you understand what this bond validation means? It means that they want the governor to call the legislature in special session and without submitting the question to the people, have the legislature validate $100,000,000 in bonds which the supreme court of the United States has said are void and which the people do not owe."

J. M. Adkins and son and J. H. Dowling of Rock Prairie were business visitors in town today.

METHODISTS DEFEAT CATHOLICS IN A MOST INTERESTING GAME OF THE LEAGUE SERIES TUESDAY

STANDING OF LEAGUE.

The following is the standing of the teams in the Bryan Sunday School League, following the game on Tuesday evening.

Between the Methodists and Catholics. It finds three teams, Catholics, Bryan High and Methodist tied for first place with a percentage of .666.

Playing a brand of real baseball and going through a whole game without a "blow-up," the Methodist team of the Bryan Sunday School League nosed out the Catholic team of the League, 5 to 4 in a five-inning contest on Allen Field on Tuesday evening. It was a game full of pep, interest and thrills and enough hitting of the ball to keep it lively. A feature of the game was the hitting on both sides, particularly on the part of the Methodists who finally drove Joe Krennek out of the box. Another feature of the game was the pitching of Will Walker, who held the hard-hitting St. Joseph's team down to five hits in as many innings, only two coming in the same inning and those scattered, and who secured six strikeouts and got good support on the other put-outs.

Catholics: V. Adams and Groth each struck out and Harrison was out on a fly to short, Krennek getting a lucky hop and fielding perfectly what seemed to be a good hit.

Methodists: Walker out, second to first. Kellett scratched a single to third and stole second. He scored when Cox singled between second and short. W. Hudson out on a fly to first. Cox took third when Cloud singled on a fly over second, Cloud taking second on the throw in to third. Cloud scored when Teague singled over second, Teague going to second on the throw-in to the plate to try to stop Cloud. V. Adams out, third to first.

Catholics: Krennek struck out. Kosarek, hitting for Saladin, hit to first and got on by error, stealing second. W. Merka went out on a foul fly to third. V. Scardino was hit by a pitched ball after Kosarek had taken third on a passed ball. Kalinec, hitting for J. Krennek, got on by short's error, Saladin and V. Scardino scoring. M. Merka singled to short and took second on the throw in. Altamore was out by first unassisted.

Methodists: Groth got on by short's error but was doubled at first when Harrison fled out to first. Walker out, third to first.

Catholics: W. Sebesta and Ed Dobrovolsky each struck out and A. Krennek was out on a fly to short in short left field.

Methodists: Did not need last turn at bat.

Catholics Position Methodists
J. Krennek p W. Walker
Kalinec c

W. Sebesta 1b Teague
Saladin 2b G. Cloud
E. Dobrovolsky 3b Kellett

W. Merka rf V. Adams

Umpires: Joe Spill on balls and strikes; Chick Gleen on bases. Scorekeeper: H. D. Cuykendall of the Bryan Eagle.

First Inning.

Catholics: M. Merka struck out and was thrown out at first by catcher. J. Altamore singled between first and second. He was held on first while W. Sebesta struck out but advanced to second when E. Dobrovolsky was hit by a pitched ball. Altamore scored when A. Krennek singled between first and second. E. Dobrovolsky taking third. The runner on third scored when Catcher Groth threw to second in the effort to put out A. Krennek, stealing. The peg was good, except a little low, but the steal was effective. Saladin went out on a fly to short left field, Willie Hudson making a splendid running catch after running back after the ball.

Methodists: Harrison struck out. Walker singled over second and went to third when Kellett singled to short center. Kellett took second on the throw in. Cox singled between first and second, scoring both runners but was put out at second, third to second, when W. Hudson grounded to third. Hudson beat the attempt to double him at first. Cloud singled, sending Hudson to third, taking second on the throw in to catcher to keep Hudson from scoring. Teague struck out but had to be thrown
